Findings

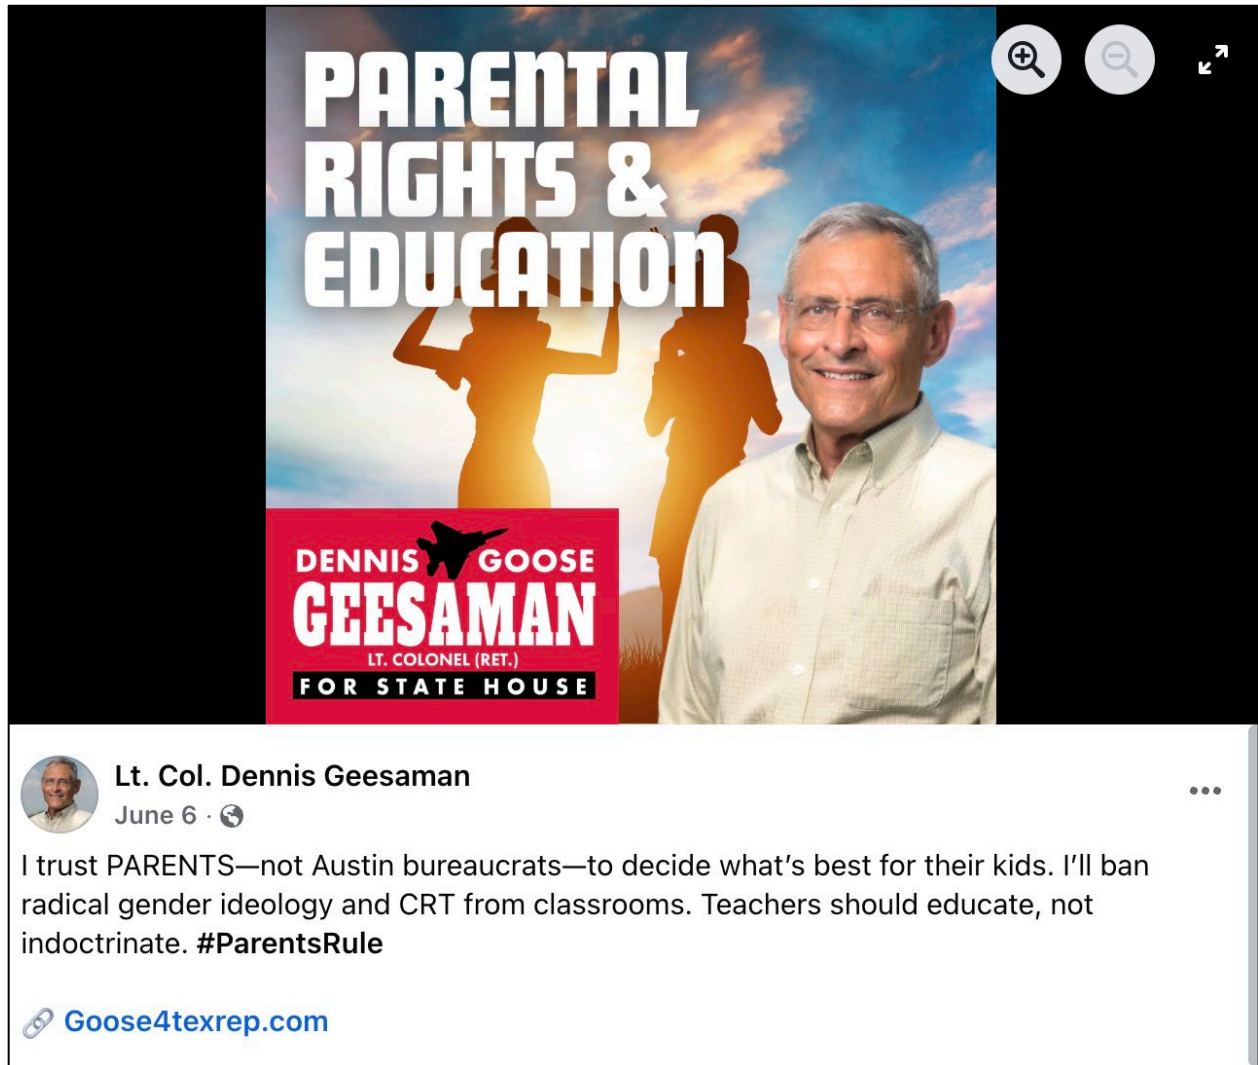

SCHOOL CHOICE

- ◆ Geesaman notably does not mention school choice, instead opting for the language of “local control” and insisting that parents are the ultimate authority when it comes to their kids.

<https://goose4texrep.com/issues/>

- ◆ Again, his message on Facebook concerning education does not mention school choice, just vaguely empowering parents.

ANTI-ABBOTT

- ◆ While no specific anti-Abbott statements were identified, Geesaman's reason for running is his belief the House does not pass conservative priorities, despite passing SB2, the Governor's priority legislation.

Geesaman to Challenge State Rep. Stan Kitzman in GOP Primary

Mon, 06/02/2025 - 19:44

By Andy Behlen

Former Flatonia Councilman and Mayor Dennis Geesaman recently announced his candidacy for the Texas House of Representatives. He'll face incumbent Stan Kitzman in the Republican Primary next year.

Geesaman, a retired Lieutenant Colonel in the Air Force, airline pilot, and former councilman and mayor of Flatonia, will run against incumbent Stan Kitzman in the race to represent Texas House District 85. They'll face each other in the Republican Primary Election next March.

Kitzman has come under fire by conservatives recently over his voting record on certain issues.

"I feel like my opponent has moved more to a 'uniparty' position than a Republican or populist conservative position," Geesaman said in an interview with the Record last Thursday.

Following the 2022 redistricting that put Fayette County in District 85, Kitzman won the Republican Primary and the General Election that year. Kitzman took office in January 2023. Since then, Geesaman said some conservatives around the district began souring on their new representative over some controversial votes.

"It kind of started with him voting to impeach (Attorney General) Ken Paxton," Geesaman said. "Then it went on to him breaking with the Republican Caucus and voting with the Democrats to elect the Speaker of the House. And then voting with the Democrats on the rules for the House's operations. Basically, I feel like it was designed as a way to kill conservative populist legislation "I feel like there's a strong grassroots looking for a change," he added. "But we're in the far western end of the district. So I have a need to reach out to the eastern end if I have any hope of making this happen."

District 85 contains the counties of Fayette, Colorado, Austin, Waller, and Wharton along with about half of Fort Bend County.

Geesaman said he was among a group of Republicans in the district who were looking for a candidate to run against Kitzman.

- ◆ Geesaman opposes using tax dollars to support the Texas film industry, a program Gov. Abbott has expanded.

"We had some tepid response, but no one was really willing to do it," Geesaman said. "So I said, 'If somebody's got to do it, then I'll do it.'" So far, no other Republicans have announced their intention to run for the seat. Geesaman officially announced his candidacy at a meeting of the Fayette County Republican Women on May 21. At the meeting, Geesaman spoke alongside Dan Huffines, who's running for State Comptroller on a platform of bringing D.O.G.E. (the Elon Musk-inspired Department of Government Efficiency initiative) to Texas.

During the interview with the Record, Geesaman spoke about his position on government spending. Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar projects a nearly $24 billion surplus for the 2026-27 biennium.

"My position is that excess tax money should go back to taxpayers," Geesaman said.

For example, Geesaman said he opposes a bill in the State Legislature that would take some of the surplus to support the film industry in Texas.

"I've heard as high as $2 billion going out of the budget to what some people are calling 'Hollywood,'" he said.

Geesaman recently volunteered without pay to serve a brief stint as the interim City Manager in Flatonia during a vacancy in that position. During that time, Flatonia was designated a Texas Film Friendly City by Governor Greg Abbott and the Texas Film Commission. Geesaman said the City had been working on that designation for a while and it just so happened to come while he was interim City Manager.

While he supported the designation to promote his hometown as a filming designation, he opposes the State using tax dollars to financially support the film industry.

"I'm not in favor of any surplus going to film production," Geesaman said. "We can stand on our own two feet."

"My position is this," he added. "We keep having this $20 billion, $30 billion excess every two years. All of that should go towards reducing the tax burden. If we have excess revenue, pay down the tax burden. Don't start new programs."

Governor Abbott Announces Film Friendly Texas Designation For Flatonia

May 23, 2025

Governor Greg Abbott today announced that the City of Flatonia, having completed the multi-step training and certification process, has been designated as a Film Friendly Texas Certified Community by the Texas Film Commission.

"Congratulations to Flatonia on earning the Film Friendly Texas designation and joining 200 other Texas communities that have received this recognition," said Governor Abbott. "Through the Film Friendly Texas training and certification process, Texas communities are prepared to help match local businesses with production-related needs, creating jobs for Texans and spurring on-site spending at local businesses. I thank the Texas Film Commission for helping communities like Flatonia market their unique appeal and support local job creation through media production. Texas is brimming with promise, and I look forward to continuing to work alongside all of our communities to ensure they have the knowledge and tools needed to succeed."

"We are honored to be designated as a Film Friendly Texas Certified Community," said Flatonia Interim City Manager Dennis Geesaman. "Flatonia's classic small-town Texas charm is evident to those who visit, and we love to showcase it to anyone interested in exploring all we have to offer. From the operating 'picture show' theater to unique dining, shopping, and lodging experiences in restored 19th and early 20th century buildings, we think Flatonia is a gem. All is reminiscent of our city's Czech and German heritage. Thank you again for the honor and the fruit it will produce."

Candidates Don Huffines For State Comptroller & Dennis Geesaman For HD85 Representative

The Fayette County Republican Women put on a fantastic program at their monthly meeting today. Thank you, ladies, for your tireless service! I think Don Huffines would be an excellent choice for State Comptroller, listen to his passionate plan to DOGE Texas. Also, Lt. Col. Dennis "Goose" Geesaman announced his candidacy for House District 85. As an actual conservative, I think he would make a great replacement for the RINO currently holding that office. Both candidates deliver comments and answer questions, listen to what can't be reported, or won't be, right here...

Lt. Col. (Ret.) Dennis "Goose" Geesaman is a fighter pilot, proven civic leader, and unapologetic Texas conservative on a mission to keep Texas Texas—with ruthless resolve.

A graduate of the United States Air Force Academy with a degree in engineering, Goose served 21 years in the U.S. Air Force, leading missions across the U.S., Europe, and the Far East. He completed his military career as commander of an F-15 Eagle squadron in Okinawa, where he led one of America's most lethal fighter units forward-deployed in defense of U.S. and allied interests. While on active duty, he also earned an MBA and built a leadership philosophy grounded in discipline, grit, and mission success.

After retiring from the Air Force, Goose spent 22 years flying for Southwest Airlines, based out of Houston Hobby. At the same time, he built a life of service and self-reliance in Flatonia, Texas—running a cattle and hay operation, restoring a historic hotel with his wife (also an Air Force veteran), and raising a family rooted in patriotism and purpose. Two of his grandsons now serve as USAF fighter pilots, continuing the Geesaman legacy of service.

But Goose didn't stop there. He rolled up his sleeves and went to work for his town: serving five terms on the Flatonia City Council, later as Mayor, and founding the Flatonia Economic Development Corporation. He also led as president of the Chamber of Commerce, president of his church council, and treasurer of the American Legion Post.

From the skies above Europe to the heart of rural Texas, Goose has led from the front. Now, he's answering the call once again—this time to defend the values of House District 85 from weak leadership and progressive creep.

Dennis "Goose" Geesaman is not a politician. He's a mission-driven conservative warrior—and he's not done fighting.

LT. COL. GEESAMAN ON THE ISSUES

Ending ALL State Magnets for Illegal Immigrants

President Trump is finally securing our border and deporting people who have come to our country illegally. But there are still countless benefits—known as magnets—that Texas gives to illegal immigrants, which reward lawless entry and residence in our state. This must end. As your next state representative, Goose will fight to end any state benefits for illegal immigrants. Your tax dollars should never be used to incentivize illegal immigration.

Fixing the Economy

Inflation, high energy costs, and reckless spending are crushing working Texans. Goose will fight to cut red tape, slash waste, and bring down the cost of living. That means energy independence, eliminating job-killing regulations, and putting Texas workers and producers first. Cutting property taxes will be part of the plan to let families and small businesses keep more of what they earn. The goal? Strong families, local jobs, and a Texas economy that rewards hard work—not government games.

Drain the Austin Swamp

Austin's bureaucracy is bloated, inefficient, and too often answers to lobbyists instead of Texans. Goose supports creating a Texas Department of Government Efficiency and Streamlining (DOGES) to conduct top-to-bottom audits of every agency, cut the fat, and return power to the people. No more backroom deals. No more ghost spending. It's time to drain the Austin swamp—Texas-style.

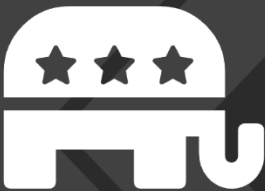

Parental Rights & Education

Goose believes in local control, curriculum transparency, and restoring sanity and discipline in Texas schools. He will fight to ban radical gender ideology, CRT, and political indoctrination in the classroom. Teachers should teach truth—not trends. And parents, not bureaucrats, are the ultimate authority when it comes to their kids.

Infrastructure & Rural Investment

Small towns built Texas—and they deserve better than being left behind. Goose will fight for better roads, faster internet, stronger utility grids, and smarter infrastructure investments in rural areas. He'll make sure communities like Flatonia have a voice in Austin—and a fair share of the future.

Keep Texas Texas

Goose is committed to defending what makes Texas great: faith, family, freedom, and the right to live as God made you. That means protecting life, defending the Second Amendment, securing our history, and resisting federal overreach at every turn. Goose will fight to ensure Texas never bends the knee to Washington—or to the woke left. This is our home. Let's keep Texas Texas.

I'm not a politician—I'm a fighter. I've defended America abroad and built up Texas at home. Now I'm running to secure our border, cut waste, and keep Texas Texas. No apologies. No surrender.
