BACKGROUND ..... 11

Identifying Information ..... 11

RESEARCH FINDINGS ..... 12

Saenz is steeped in the Democrat machine in Texas. Saenz is the Texas Democratic Party SDEC 20 representative and a precinct chair. Saenz has campaigned for Beto, Biden and Hillary. Her husband is the Nueces County Democrat Party Chairman and ran for Corpus Christi City Council twice (2007 and 2009) and Nueces County Tax Assessor-Collector in 2012. .... 13

Saenz: “I feel the excitement” of the Biden campaign. .... 21

“I’m a PROUD TEXAS DEMOCRAT, Y’ALL.” Saenz posted: “If you are just as passionate about putting people over corporations, the environment, supporting small businesses, bringing jobs and affordable housing to our community, renewable energy, ending racism, health care for all,...let me know. We have a spot for you in the Democratic Party of Texas.” Saenz has posted updates from Democrat conventions and selfies with national figures like Cory Booker. .... 22

Saenz’s husband came under fire for a Facebook post he made after the assassination of Charlie Kirk: “Live by the sword, die by the sword” ..... 27

No Kings!...but family dynasties are fine. Saenz posted that should would run to succeed her husband as Nueces County Democrat Chair, but ultimately ran for state representative. .... 28

Saenz supported Lupe Valdez for Governor in 2018, the former Dallas County Sheriff who famously lost her on-duty firearm. .... 30

Saenz says school funding should “not fall almost completely by property owners” but keeps advocating for more funding...from where? ..... 32

Saenz: “You must be referring to all the single minded republicans that are screwing with public education.” ..... 33

Saenz: “Don't forget us, and by that I mean, VOTE for people who will make public school education a priority.” ..... 34

Saenz: “If Texas Governor Rick Perry wants to bring more businesses to Texas, then he should consider that these businesses will need an educated work force. It takes more than tax cuts and tax breaks to attract businesses that will be successful in Texas.” ..... 35

Saenz: “Did you know that college tuition has gone up by 70% since the republicans pushed deregulation of tuition through the legislature?” ..... 36

Saenz: “I feel like public school finance is the most important issue because the only way to adequately staff our schools is if we have the money to hire more teachers.” ..... 37

Saenz on election integrity: “Where is the proof that people that vote by mail are committing fraud; PROVE IT!” ..... 38

Saenz reposted Stacey Abrams’ response to the 2019 State of the Union. .... 42

Saenz was excited when Amy Klobuchar announced her presidential campaign: “It is getting good; I love having choices.” Who was excited for Amy Klobuchar?..... 43

Saenz has celebrated “a new class of leaders to run for office” who push the Green New Deal and Medicare for All..... 44

Saenz promoted AOC. .... 45

Saenz promoted the group Our Revolution Coastal Bend. Our Revolution was established to continue pushing the priorities of Bernie Sanders’ 2016 presidential campaign after his loss to Hillary Clinton: Medicare for All, free education, ending racism, climate justice. Saenz encouraged others to attend: “I love this club; you should check them out”. .... 46

Saenz promoted Julian Castro’s 2019 presidential campaign. Castro (in)famously “stood firm on wanting to give undocumented immigrants access to health care if he is elected.” ..... 48

Saenz was concerned that the “Latinx” community is often undercounted by the census and encouraged everyone to get counted in the 2020 census to show our “true population” to get more SNAP and WIC money. What other reason for “everyone counts” signs is there besides wanting illegal immigrants counted? ..... 52

Saenz wants to “stop the wall”. .... 55

Saenz supports Medicaid expansion..... 56

Saenz supported Democrat Justin Nelson for Attorney General in 2018. .... 57

Saenz in 2019: “Texas is in PLAY!” ..... 58

Saenz posted on Facebook about getting rear ended by an unlicensed, uninsured driver: “I felt so bad that all this was happening; I gave her a hug and told her to get insurance. I feel so horrible.” ..... 59

Lazy. In 2007, Saenz submitted a letter to the editor endorsing her husband’s race for City Council; when he ran again in 2009, she submitted the same endorsement letter word for word. As a teacher does she allow students to resubmit the same work for different assignments? 61

Saenz submitted comments to the Texas House opposing the new congressional map claiming Abbott “wants to strip Texans of our political power by gerrymandering us even more” and there needs to be “a third party to draw our lines” not the Texas legislature. .... 62

Nueces County is in an ongoing water crisis because of poor local leadership. Saenz and her husband have long worked behind the scenes in Nueces County through their roles in the Nueces County Democrat Party — Rene Saenz supported Mayor Paulette Guajardo who is facing a removal hearing..... 63

Talking out of both sides. Saenz and her husband blame the governor for not doing enough but then do not like that Gov. Abbott inserted himself into this local crisis by threatening a state government takeover of the Nueces County water governance; yet they admit “we are in dire need of water.” Rene Saenz even calls Abbott a “dictator.” How bad does it have to get before you support Gov. Abbott taking over? Do you hate Abbott more than you love Corpus Christi? ..... 64

“Get involved folks; this weekend Corpus Christi turns blue!” ..... 66

Saenz is embracing the LGBTQ+ agenda, celebrating the Stonewall Democrats who include the trans flag colors in their logo and turning to Equality Texas for analysis on legislation that they deem “anti-trans.” ..... 68

Saenz promotes drag shows. .... 70

Whoa...Saenz “outed” a whole list of people who applied to be 2020 national delegates, which of course included sexual orientation because how else would they know who is the most qualified?..... 71

Radically pro-illegal immigration. Saenz celebrated an ISD walk out protest to attack ICE and call for an end to deportations. This is what she thinks public schools should be doing...... 73

Saenz reposted a photo of a protestor with an “abolish ICE” sign with the caption “We are one America!” ..... 76

Saenz shared a 2010 CNN article titled “Farm workers: Take our jobs, please!” claiming illegal immigrants work jobs Americans won’t and described law-and-order Arizona Gov. Jan Brewer as “anti-immigration” for signing legislation allowing state police to determine the immigration status if they have reasonable suspicion of someone being an illegal alien. Saenz also shared a video of Arizonans apologizing for their governor and begging tourists not to boycott over immigration policy..... 77

Legalize the ‘Illegals’ ..... 83

According to Saenz if you don’t help illegals, you are not pro-life. .... 84

Saenz celebrated the United Farm Workers going to DC in 2013 to lobby for immigration “reform”. ..... 85

Saenz on efforts to curb illegal immigration: “Hate is the hidden agenda behind SB 1070. There are better solutions such as a more efficient way to issue work visas to our Mexican neighbors, and aiding Mexico in fighting this drug war. Oh, but we can't do that because they are MEXICAN!” ..... 86

Saenz posted a song about Saint Patrick’s Battalion – a Mexican Army unit of Irish Catholic immigrants that fought against the United States in the Mexican-American War. .... 87

Saenz mocked the Alamo and Texas hero Davy Crockett. .... 88

Saenz: Mexicans are “never immigrants.” Saenz believes because most Mexicans have some indigenous blood they should be allowed free movement all over the Americas. Why stop at Mexicans? Can’t we say the same about Guatemalans, Peruvians, Ecuadorians etc. .... 89

Anti-2A. In defense of Alex Pretti, Saenz shares a post reiterating leftwing talking points blaming guns for mass shootings and attacking Kyle Rittenhouse. .... 90

Saenz “never been so torn between two candidates” Crockett over Talarico. However, in the lead up to the election, Saenz posted a video of Crockett, suggesting that she voted for her. 91

In 2016, Saenz’s two daughters were sponsored by two different state representatives, Abel Herrero and Todd Hunter, in a Mexican themed pageant contest called Feria De Las Flores. . 93

On her January 2026 campaign finance report, nearly 1/3 of Saenz’s reported contributions came from a single PAC, $650 from Texas Majority PAC. In August 2025, AG Paxton announced the George Soros-funded PAC was under investigation “for its role in potentially unlawful financial coordination and bribery of Democratic legislators who fled Texas to break quorum.” ..... 95

Saenz was president of the Coastal Bend Cesar E. Chavez Committee whose “mission is to educate and inspire generations of South Texans by promoting the legacy of Cesar Chavez.” While the website hasn’t been active since 2017, the group’s Facebook page is still active, and Saenz is the contact listed. Chavez’s legacy has been recently sullied as multiple, credible allegations of sexual assault and rape have surfaced. .... 98

The Coastal Bend Cesar E. Chavez Committee’s Facebook page is still active, and Saenz is the contact listed. The page promotes anti-ICE and radical racial politics. Ironically, Chavez was highly critical of illegal immigrants stating they undermined legal migrants or US-born farm workers..... 112

The Coastal Bend Cesar E. Chavez Committee was registered as a nonprofit corporation in Texas in 2001. The Texas Secretary of State revoked the group’s status in 2005 due to tax forfeiture. The entity’s 501(c)(3) IRS tax-exempt status was automatically revoked in 2010 and posted on the auto-revocation list in 2011. It appears that under her leadership the group lost its nonprofit status (while Saenz was not listed on the initial formation documents, she was identified as the president in a 2009 article). In 2012, the entity was soliciting donations on Facebook to fund their events. While the group’s website doesn’t appear updated, it was claiming its nonprofit status while promoting events in 2015 and 2017. .... 118

Radical agenda to hurt industry and push green agenda. Saenz states she will “be an A+ student” for Texas Sierra Club’s legislative tracker while posting her Republican opponent’s 52% rating. Saenz implies she will get 100% but James Talarico himself only got 72%. Will Saenz drive oil prices higher with burdensome regulations pushed by Sierra Club? Will she restrict Nueces County from groundwater and desalination just to be an “A+ student” for these extreme environmentalists? ..... 125

Saenz: “God Bless Us with more democrats, a rainbow of people who love their neighbors and environment as much as themselves” ..... 127

“OBAMA! OBAMA! OBAMA!” ..... 129

Saenz is anti-crypto currency. Coastal Bend Cesar Chavez Committee promoted an event “unmasking the environmental toll of cryptocurrency.” ..... 131

Saenz loved the Bad Bunny Superbowl halftime show because it was in Spanish..... 132

Weeks after October 7, 2023, Saenz posted an article pushing the pro-Gaza narrative..... 133

Saenz opposed to Operation Lone Star and reposted an article about “Texas’ treatment of migrants.” ..... 134

Saenz wants legislation to raise the minimum wage..... 135

Covid Vaccine Fanatic. Saenz struggles to find sympathy for the unvaccinated, saying: “Cutting-edge, revolutionary, mind-blowing, lifesaving vaccines were available where people shopped for groceries, and they still didn’t want them.” Saenz also shared an OpEd from the Los Angeles Times telling people to “get the shot.” ..... 137

Saenz supported continued school closures and mask mandates. .... 145

Saenz supported mask mandates in schools even in the second half of 2021. Saenz reposted TASB’s response to Abbott’s executive order banning mask mandates for kids in public schools, which TASB called an unlawful overreach and an intrusion on ISD authority. .... 148

Does TASB consider GA-38 a lawful exercise of the governor’s authority? ..... 149

What does TASB advise regarding mask requirements? ..... 150

What should we do if we get a warning letter from the attorney general? ..... 151

Could a mask mandate be adopted as a “dress code” requirement rather than health rule? .....	151
Is there individual liability for school officials who adopt a mask mandate?.....	151
Saenz: “I remember when getting paid once a month was a nightmare for some teachers. Now, going back to school in person is the nightmare.” .....	152
Saenz has long been opposed to school choice and vouchers. ....	154
Saenz opposed teacher accountability. ....	159
Saenz posted a Slate article titled: “Tenure is not the problem in our public schools. Segregation is.” The linked article claimed, “Reforming (or gutting) tenure laws might make it easier to weed out bad teachers, but it does nothing to address the underlying ability of segregated schools to attract and retain strong teachers.” .....	160
Saenz ran for president of Corpus Christi AFT in 2017 but lost to incumbent Dr. Nancy Vera 148-54 votes. ....	162
Saenz: “AFT has always been part of the solution” .....	168
Saenz lobbied in Austin alongside AFL-CIO. ....	177
Saenz stood with “clock boy” .....	178
Saenz claimed her son thought Trump wouldn’t let their family back into the country if they left. ....	179
Saenz promoted Russiagate. ....	181
Saenz in 2014: “Election time is near, and we need a Governor and Lt. Governor that are on board with teachers and students.” .....	182
Saenz wants 2 free years of college for everyone.....	183
Saenz reposted a New York Times column titled: “A Refugee Crisis, Not an Immigration Crisis” .....	184
Saenz posted “TOP 15 Most Awesome Pro-Immigrant Signs Welcoming Children to Our Borders” .....	185
Saenz in 2019: “PUSH BACK AGAINST THE MISTREATMENT OF ASYLUM SEEKERS” .....	188
Saenz wants you to sign if you agree: “migration is a human right” .....	190

---

Saenz support the DREAM Act in 2017 which would provide a path to lawful permanent residence for eligible undocumented immigrants brought to the U.S. as children (Dreamers). The law would also expand in-state tuition and financial aid for illegals. ....	191
Saenz: “Renew your DACA!” .....	194
Saenz attended a rally against “white supremacy”. The event description read “Attending the vigil will allow us to grieve and redouble our commitment to defeat the vile worldview of white supremacy.” .....	195
Saenz wants people to “unlearn” racism.....	198
Support for George Floyd “protestors” .....	199
Saenz: “Keep the light of your love burning in souls of all the activists desperate for an end to racism” .....	202
Saenz advocated for the teacher’s union having more power in Corpus Christi ISD. ....	203
Saenz ran for the TRS board as a Public School District Employee representative in 2020. It does not appear Saenz received enough signatures to qualify as a candidate in the 2021 election. ....	209
Saenz unsuccessfully sought an appointment to the Del Mar College Board of Regents in 2021. ....	211
Saenz: “I have been an advocate for well-rounded history books since 1997 when I attended my first Texas State Board of Education meeting in support of history books that reflected the diversity of our nation.” .....	213
Pronouns in bio. ....	214
TMI: “This is dedicated to you, my sweet lover” .....	215
Saenz posed for a photo op with a woman in a love abortion print dress.....	217

Twenty-five cars lined up in the Nueces County Democrat Party parking lot. Attendees wrote messages such as "Biden Harris 2020," "grab him by the ballot" and "Say her name Breonna Taylor" before taking the Joe Biden and Kamala Harris caravan to Robstown and then Alice.

"We can't go door-to-door like we used to," organizer Stephanie Guerrero-Saenz said, "the Biden campaign is wanting us to stay safe."

Supporters wear masks and socially distance themselves as they put "Biden Harris 2020" flags on their cars and trucks. Gigi Guinn says that she came to the event to support the presidential candidate and encourage people to vote.

This is our social distancing rally," Guinn said.

Organizers explain the route to patrons as the caravan prepares to leave the parking lot and head to Robstown. There, attendees meet with other Biden-Harris supporters and continue on to Alice.

"I feel the excitement," Guerrero-Saenz said, "and they're wanting to get out there and show their support for Biden."

“I’m a PROUD TEXAS DEMOCRAT, Y’ALL.” Saenz posted: “If you are just as passionate about putting people over corporations, the environment, supporting small businesses, bringing jobs and affordable housing to our community, renewable energy, ending racism, health care for all,....let me know. "The SREC (State Republican Executive Committee) vote, after nearly three hours of debate, was influenced by the strong feeling among members representing the state's 31 state Senate districts, that a virtual convention is a sorry alternative to the real deal and that moving to a virtual convention, like Texas Democrats did, would be surrendering to fear-mongering that presents the pandemic as a greater peril than it is."

As a member of the SDEC, I can tell you that we wanted an in-person convention, but after learning about the damage that the corona-virus could do, we understood that the corona-virus was something to take very seriously. It's unfortunate that the SREC will not take the same precautions to protect the most active members of their state party. I for one would not ever encourage people to participate in an in-person event that has the potential to spread a virus that can take their lives. And, that is not fear-mongering; It's a fact that this virus has taken one too many lives.

As it turns out, we had more participation by conducting a virtual convention, and raised millions of dollars from grassroots supporters. Our most vulnerable communities were able to participate without risk, and our network of volunteers has grown exponentially. I'm a PROUD TEXAS DEMOCRAT, Y'ALL, and I we had the best convention ever! If you are just as passionate about putting people over corporations, the environment, supporting small businesses, bringing jobs and affordable housing to our community, renewable energy, ending racism, health care for all,....let me know. We have a spot for you in the Democratic Party of Texas.

Former Dallas County Sheriff Lupe Valdez said Thursday she has done due diligence in looking for a 9mm Beretta that was reported as having not been returned after she left the department in December.

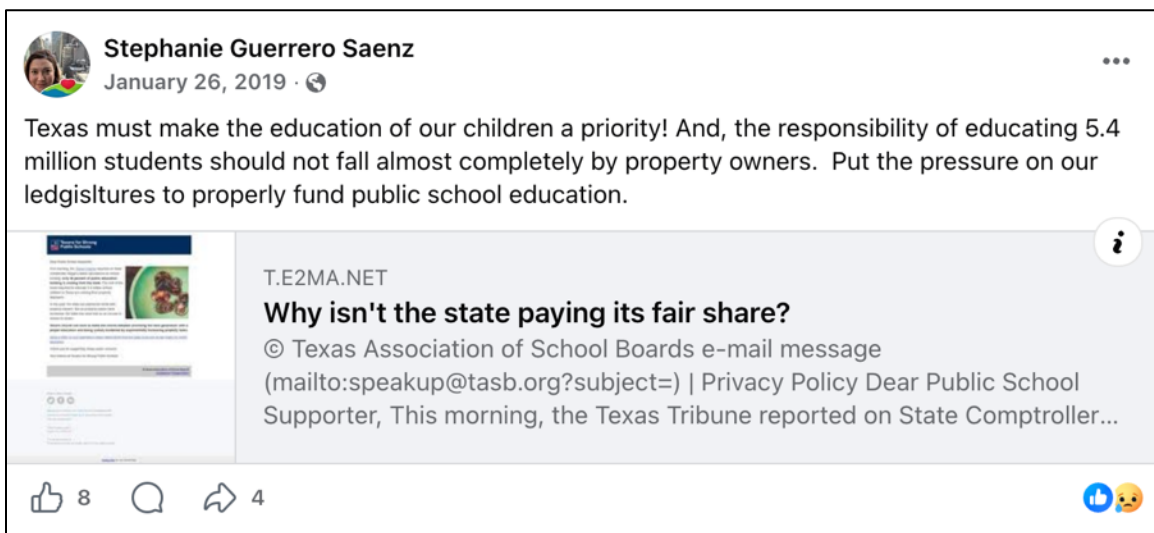

Valdez was Dallas sheriff for 13 years before stepping down to begin a longshot run against Republican Gov. Greg Abbott. She said in a statement that she believes the weapon was misplaced during that transition but didn't elaborate.

Saenz: “Don't forget us, and by that I mean, VOTE for people who will make public school education a priority.”

I have noticed that several of my colleagues in education are either leaving behind this humble profession for more pay (which in the US equals more respect), or they are going back to school to change careers. It truly saddens me to see these wonderful people go. I'm not saying that this has become the trend, but there is only so much a teacher can take before they start looking at their options. Lucky for us, we love learning, and are capable of accomplishing anything. To those of you moving forward, Good journey! Don't forget us, and by that I mean, VOTE for people who will make public school education a priority.

Hundreds of Coastal Bend teachers rally at the Capitol

Beatriz Alvarado, Corpus Christi Caller-Times

March 13, 2017 | Updated March 14, 2017, 8:51 a.m. CT

Corpus Christi Caller Times, 03/13/2017

Thousands of public school students and employees kicked off their spring break with a lobby day at the Capitol.

The Texas American Federation of Teachers led a rally in Austin on Monday to push its legislative agenda for the 85th Legislative session.

More than 100 students, teachers and auxiliary workers from Coastal Bend schools joined the Corpus Christi American Federation of Teachers for the trip.

The labor organization strongly opposes bills that threaten payroll deductions for a select group of public employees, including teachers, bills that allow local property taxes to be used to help offset the cost of private education in the state, and demands an comprehensive overhaul of the state’s school finance system, among other legislative priorities listed on the Texas AFT website.

While in Austin, the Coastal Bend group met with the Corpus Christi/Coastal Bend delegation – State Rep. Abel Herrero, D-Robstown; State Rep. Todd Hunter, R-Corpus Christi; and Sen. Juan "Chuy" Hinojosa, D-McAllen.

Hinojosa, who in January was appointed to the 85th Legislative Session's school finance workgroup, said one session is too short for lawmakers to fix the system.

“We have started working on restructuring the public school finance system we have in place, but the reality is it’s a very complex structure,” Hinojosa said. “A session is too short a period of time to try to resolve all those issues, but we have started the work in that respect.”

The workgroup Hinojosa was appointed to provides recommendations to the Senate Finance Committee regarding proposals to replace the school finance funding structure with a less complicated, more equitable funding system.

Last year the Texas Supreme Court ruled that the present system meets the constitutional requirement that students in the public system have access to an adequate education, but called for a serious makeover.

Lawmakers are treading cautiously, Hinojosa said.

“We can’t keep putting Band-Aids on the problem,” Hinojosa said. “It’s going to collapse on its own weight with more Band-Aids.”

The system’s dysfunctions fuel an exodus of students to alternative institutions, like charter and private schools, as well as home schooling, said Stephanie Guerrero Saenz, a Spanish teacher at King High School who joined to Coastal Bend group at the Capitol on Monday.

She’s noticed that at King, students who are not happy with large class sizes seek more one-on-one teacher time outside the public school system. But she argues the quality of a public education ultimately brings them back.

“Initially their main complaint is there are too many kids,” Guerrero Saenz said. “I feel like public school finance is the most important issue because the only way to adequately staff our schools is if we have the money to hire more teachers.”

The gathering at the Capitol is meant to show lawmakers that public school students and employees are tired of being asked to do more with less, said Ray McMurrey, former Corpus Christi federation president and now secretary-treasurer for Texas AFT.

“It’s a great show of solidarity to bring people from all over the state that can connect on these issues,” McMurrey said. “People feel the social fabric of our democracy being torn apart. They see their schools being underfunded, they know all the issue, but being able to connect the dots ... is an extremely powerful ability. I’m very hopeful and excited we will have some victories this session.”

This guy has got to go! Anyone, especially people who are at high risk for contracting COVID-19, should be able to vote by mail. Where is the proof that people that vote by mail are committing fraud; PROVE IT! This guy is hoping that Texans will stay home on election day if the choices are: risk catching COVID-19 or stay safe at home. There are 17 states in the U.S. that allow voters to vote by mail for any reason. There are 5 that only conduct vote by mail elections. And, from what I have read, there is a very low chance of voter fraud. This guy is implying that Democrats cheat, but the truth is that he cheats: <https://www.statesman.com/.../ken-paxton-arrested-booked...>

René and I learned about this problem prior to his running for tax assessor collector in Nueces county. Purging is actually one of the responsibilities of the tax assessor collector. It's infuriating that counties are using this office to illegally purge, and it's been going on for a very long time. And, some people don't find out until they are turned away at the polls. Call the voter registration office to ensure your registration has gone through. And, if you are told at the polls that you are not on the list, ASK for a PROVISIONAL BALLOT.

Saenz supports Medicaid expansion.

Stephanie Guerrero Saenz

March 27, 2019 · 🌐

For

Immediate Release

Yet Again, Texas Republicans

Refuse to Pursue Common-Sense Medicaid Expansion

Texas Republicans Once

Again Choose to Deny 1.1 Million Texans The Right to Health Care Coverage, Including Over 600,000 Children

AUSTIN

T.X.--Moments ago, the Texas Republican Party rejected an amendment filed by Rep. John Bucy III that would give Texas the opportunity to pursue common-sense Medicaid Expansion, legislation that would allow over 1.1 million more Texans the right to health care coverage, including over 600,000 children.

Texas

is currently ranked dead last in health care coverage and has the highest uninsured rate in the country. Nearly 4.3 million Texans are uninsured. Additionally, Texas loses nearly $100 Billion per year in federal funds to states like California and New York by refusing to expand Medicaid.

Despite

these deadly statistics and lost revenue, Texas Republican legislators refuse to support this long-overdue, common-sense Medicaid Expansion legislation.

Texas

House Representative John Bucy III issued the following statement:

"Expanding Medicaid

is something we can do right now that would fundamentally transform the lives of our fellow Texans and their families. It's time to bring our tax dollars back to Texas, stop leaving billions of dollars in federal funding on the table, and ensure every person is able to access the healthcare they need."

Texas

Democratic Party Communications Director Abhi Rahman issued the following statement:

"Texas'

healthcare system continues to deteriorate while Republicans play politics with Texas's healthcare. Lives are on the line. Ranking dead last in health-care coverage, Texas is in dire need of Medicaid expansion immediately.

"Our

children and low-income families can't wait any longer. Texas Democrats believe healthcare is a fundamental human right for all Texans, not a privilege reserved just for those able to afford it.

"We

applaud Representative Bucy for his leadership and willingness to fundamentally revolutionize the lives of everyday Texans."

Governor Abbott should not be wasting $1.2 million of our tax dollars to please Trump. The whole world can see that Abbot wants to strip Texans of our political power by gerrymandering us even more. You're trying to push this through so fast (with public input from only three regions of a state the size of a county) that Texans will not have time to respond. We need a third party to draw our lines. An organization that is bipartisan and fair; NOT Abbott; NOT Trump.

How bad does it have to get before you support Gov. Abbott taking over? Do you hate Abbott more than you love Corpus Christi?

- ◆ The Saenz couple talked about the water crisis on a radio/Facebook live session that they put on themselves. Below is a portion of the dialogue. The two agreed often nodding along with each other.

RENE: I know that there's a possible petition going on against the mayor. I guess my question would be okay if the mayor is at fault, isn't the whole city council, then, I mean, I'm just curious on that part of it, because you're, you're making these decisions so but again, you have to go back to past councils as well, because we've known about this route for a while now. So we're just, we're just not dealing with the issue in the way we should, and we really think as a community, have to come together. I will tell you this. I do not like the governor making threats of a government takeover. The whole micromanaging the city.

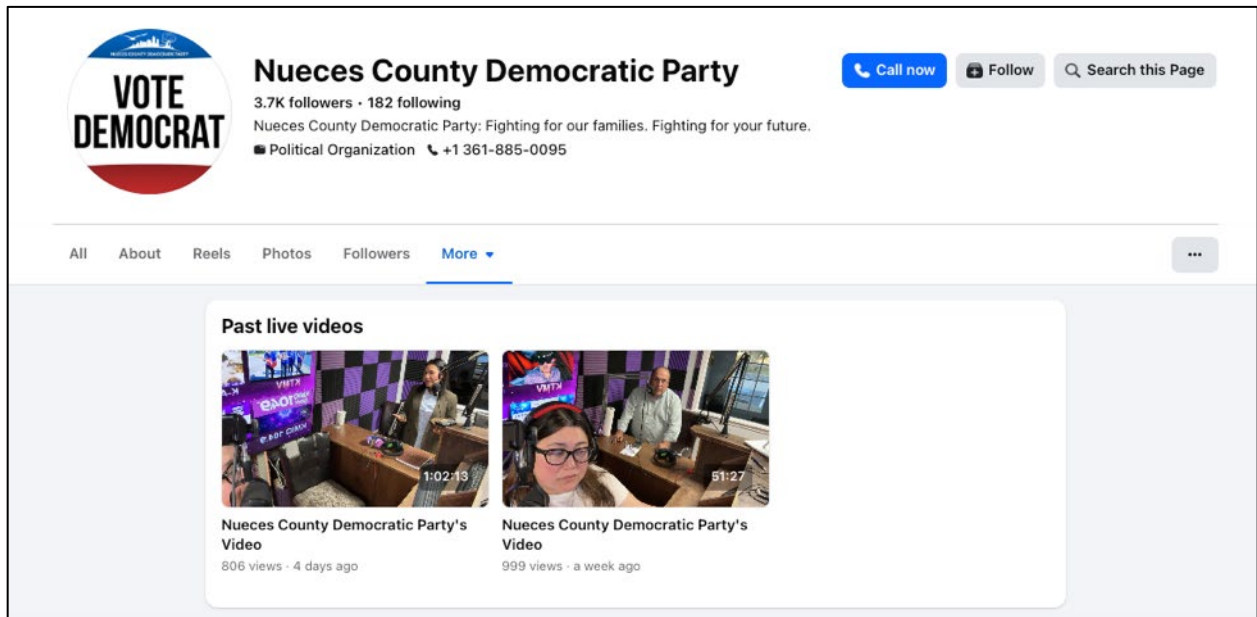

STEPHANIE: Yeah.

RENE: Now he's already done that to the school board in Houston. Now he wants to micromanage this city. Remember, if the governor has been there as long as he's been there, he's known about this problem. Okay, so what did he do about it? And I think, I think that's going to be a big question... But to say, yes, he's acting kind of like the president. He is acting like the president and like a dictator. That's just kind of the way he is. And, well, I mean, the thing is, if there's a problem, vote his ass out. That's all I want to say. I mean, I don't vote for the governor. I don't care for the man. I don't think he's been a good governor to the state of Texas, but again, he's done and running for his fourth term. Think he'll be the longest serving governor if he gets reelected. And yes, he does act like a dictator, so he's trying to tell us what to do in Corpus.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

Gender Regulation (HB 229) and the Trans Health Care Tax (HB 778) Pass the House

HB 229 codifies a narrow definition of gender that excludes, trans, intersex and nonbinary Texans. HB 778 increases the insurance liability for trans health care to include any and all possible consequences, which could make insurance prohibitively expensive for most trans people.

📖 The news out of the #txlege is heavy, but we will continue to fight back against anti-LGBTQIA+ legislation at the Capitol and across Texas.

These bills will have a massive impact on trans Texans. This week is a time of grief and a source of pain for many. During this time of uncertainty and confusion, please hold on to each other and know that you are not alone. Hundreds of thousands of Texans are in your corner.

This past Monday, we passed a key landmark. All House bills that had not been referred out of committee are no longer eligible to become law. That means that 139 of the 200+ bad bills have died—bills that would have criminalized being trans or sought to ban trans care for adults outright.

"Despite some of the worst bills dying, the news of HB 229 and HB 778 passing the House weighs heavy on all of us. No matter where the fight takes us, we will survive, and we will do it together." -Brad Pritchett, Interim CEO of Equality Texas

Saenz shared a 2010 CNN article titled “Farm workers: Take our jobs, please!” claiming illegal immigrants work jobs Americans won’t and described law-and-order Arizona Gov. Jan Brewer as “anti-immigration” for signing legislation allowing state police to determine the immigration status if they have reasonable suspicion of someone being an illegal alien. Saenz also shared a video of Arizonans apologizing for their governor and begging tourists not to boycott over immigration policy.

Most farm workers in the U.S. are illegal immigrants, but a union representing these workers has offered their jobs to Americans.

By Aaron Smith, staff writer July 10, 2010: 1:14 PM ET

NEW YORK (CNNMoney.com) -- Facing growing anti-immigrant rhetoric, the United Farm Workers union is challenging Americans to take their labor-intensive, low-paying farm jobs.

https://web.archive.org/web/20100712134018/http://money.cnn.com/2010/07/07/news/economy/farm\_worker\_jobs/

As communities nationwide grapple with tenacious unemployment, migrant workers are often accused of stealing jobs from Americans. The union believes this accusation is without basis, and intends to demonstrate this with a newly-launched campaign called "Take Our Jobs."

"Farm workers do the work that most Americans are not willing to do," said union president Arturo Rodriguez in the announcement of the campaign.

At least half a million applicants are needed to replace the immigrant workforce, so the union has posted an online application for Americans who want to work on a farm.

Through its Web site, at www.takeourjobs.org, the union promises to connect applicants with farm jobs in their area.

Since June 24, at least 4,000 people have responded to the application, said Rodriguez. Some are serious responses and others are hate mail. "Only a few dozen have really followed through with the process," he said.

Most applicants quickly lose interest once the reality sinks in that these are back-breaking jobs in triple-digit temperatures that pay minimum wage, usually without benefits, according to the union. Some small farms are not required to pay minimum wage and in 15 states farms aren't required to offer workers' compensation.

Despite the dismal job market in the U.S., where the unemployment rate is 9.5% and 14.6 million people are out of work, there have been few takers.

https://web.archive.org/web/20100712134018/http://money.cnn.com/2010/07/07/news/economy/farm\_worker\_jobs/

"I think everybody in our society is pretty clear that the least desirable job in the U.S. is being a migrant farm worker," said Rob Williams, director of the Migrant Farm Worker Justice Project. "If someone said to me, 'Here's a hazardous job and there's no worker's compensation,' I'd say, 'No thanks, it's kind of a no-brainer.'"

The Department of Agriculture counts nearly one million farm workers in the United States. According to the Migrant Farm Worker Justice Project, 85% of farm workers are immigrants -- and up to 70% of them are illegal.

Rodriguez, the union president, said the campaign is meant to draw attention to the need for immigration reform, such as the so-called AgJobs bill currently held up in Congress. The bill would grant temporary legal status to immigrants, which would become permanent if they continue to work on farms for a specific period of time.

"If [members of Congress] can't do their job in passing the bill, then they should come work in the fields," he said.

Illegal workers are rich fodder for anti-immigration leaders such as Gov. Janice Brewer, R-Ariz., who told reporters in June that the "majority" of immigrants crossing the border from Mexico are smuggling drugs for cartels. The governor also signed into law requirements for state police to "determine the immigration status" of anyone under "reasonable suspicion" of being an illegal alien.

The Justice Department on Tuesday sued the state of Arizona to overturn its new immigration law.

The proponents for migrant farm workers insist that they help, not hinder, the U.S.

Williams said that if people who oppose immigration "got their wish and all the unauthorized people went home tomorrow, we would have a crisis. We wouldn't have anyone to pick the crops, milk the cows, or take care of the Christmas trees."

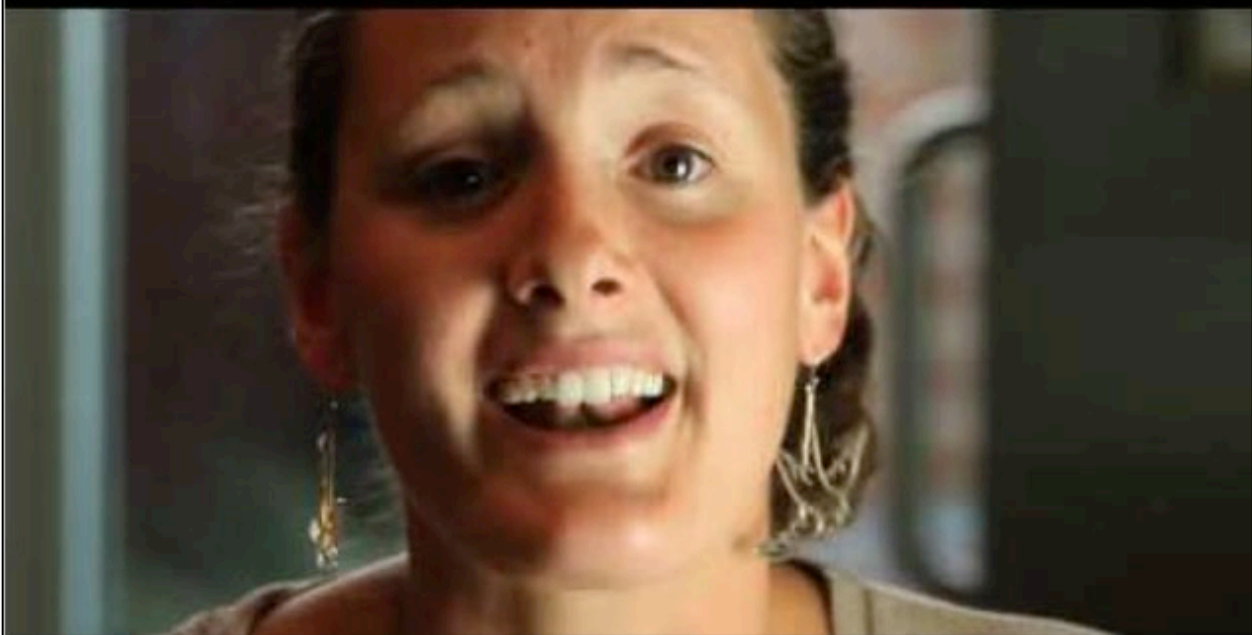

He added, "It may be the least desirable job, but it's the most important job for all of us, because we all eat." ■

In 2016, Saenz's two daughters were sponsored by two different state representatives, Abel Herrero and Todd Hunter, in a Mexican themed pageant contest called Feria De Las Flores.

Eight contestants announced for Feria De Las Flores pageant

Officials with LULAC Council No. 1 announced their eight contestants.

The women will compete in its 57th annual Feria De Las Flores Scholarship Pageant on July 30 at American Bank Center, Selena Auditorium.

Each contestant must represent a state in Mexico by performing a dance routine common to the state while wearing a unique costume from that area. They also must research and study the culture of the state they represent.

Contestants are judged on beauty, poise, personality, their dance and costume, their knowledge of their state and current events.

The 2015-16 queen is Justine Garza.

This year's contestants include:

Carmen Ayala, 19, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ayala. She is representing the Mexican state of Nuevo León, and her song is "Pavido Navido." Her sponsor is St. Benedict's Home Health.

She is a sophomore at Texas

A&M Corpus Christi. She plans to transfer to Texas Christian University and major in nursing.

Alverisa Ann Calderon, 18, is the daughter of Alvaro and Patricia Calderon. She is representing the Mexican state of Michoacan, and her song is "Mananitas Michoacanas." Her sponsor is Killian Calderon Disposal.

The 2016 graduate of Miller Metro High School plans to attend Del Mar College in the fall and then transfer to a university to obtain a degree in human resources.

Yesenia Acosta Falcon, 17, is the daughter of Harry and Rocio Falcon. She is representing the Mexican state of Campeche, and her song is "El Maracumbe." Her sponsors are Ace Electric and Judge Robert Balderas.

The King High School senior plans to attend Abilene Christian University to pursue a degree and career in psychology.

Nathryn Flores, 19, is the daughter of John and Ann Flores. She is representing the Mexican state of Quintana Roo, and her song is "Vengan a Cancun." Her sponsor is KROB Radio Station.

Attorney General Ken Paxton Launches Investigation into Soros-Funded PAC for Unlawfully Funding Runaway Democrat Legislators

Attorney General Ken Paxton launched an investigation into Texas Majority PAC (“TMP”), a radical Political Action Committee (“PAC”) bankrolled by billionaire George Soros, for its role in potentially unlawful financial coordination and bribery of Democratic legislators who fled Texas to break quorum.

Texas Majority PAC was founded by former staffers of failed gubernatorial candidate Beto O’Rourke. With a large, radical donor base, the PAC is largely funded by billionaire George Soros. This extremist group is part of a growing network of far-left organizations attempting to subvert the will of Texas voters. Reports indicate that TMP has played a coordinating role in assisting with illegal fundraising and potentially the bribery of Texas House members.

“If Texas lawmakers are bowing to the Soros Slush Fund rather than the will of the voters, Texans deserve to know. Getting financial payouts under the table to abandon your legislative duties is bribery,” said Attorney General Paxton. “Texas Majority PAC’s actions seem to indicate that it may be using its Soros-funded resources to break the law and fund the illegal abandonment of public office. If that’s the case as determined by this investigation, there will be a heavy price to pay.”

As part of the investigation, Attorney General Paxton has issued a Request to Examine to Texas Majority PAC.

This follows Attorney General Paxton’s previous investigation into Beto O’Rourke’s radical organization, Powered by People, which also seeks documents and communications related to potentially unlawful activity, including the group’s involvement in the Democrats’ scheme to break quorum.

It is our mission is to educate and inspire generations of South Texans by promoting the legacy of Cesar Chavez.

Every year we host the Cesar Chavez State Holiday Celebration to honor Cesar Chavez. He was a Mexican American civil rights and labor activist who co-founded and led the United Farm Workers. He represented migrant farm workers, focusing on the terrible conditions they were forced to endure and eventually helping to change their circumstances.

Marcha Unida honors Chávez

Young, old share in contributions of labor pioneer

BY MIKE BAIRD
Caller-Times

Louie Garcia, 13, passed up his Boy Scout camporee Saturday to march in the 10th Marcha Unida honoring labor leader César E. Chávez.

“I wanted to march,” said the Grant Middle School student. “(César Chávez) fought his way through racism, then gave up a chance for a high-paying job to help his fellow man.”

Louie, who recently read a biography on Chávez, has never faced hardships that others faced, his mother said.

“He was amazed how migrant workers were treated,” said Terry Garcia, 40, an elementary teacher. “It’s scary times, and people are one paycheck from losing everything they’ve worked for. That makes it especially important to remember the struggles.”

It has been more than 40 years since Chávez led migrant cotton pickers, boiler-makers, pipe fitters, welders and other laborers to march against the then-minimum wage of $1.25 per hour.

About 85 people Saturday chanted “Sí Se Puede,” the United Farm Workers slogan, along five blocks of César Chávez Memorial Parkway en route to St. Joseph’s Catholic Church for a blessing. Father Joe Lawless, 81, spoke about fighting evil. The World War II veteran marched with Chávez in 1967, he told the group.

Former Sen. Carlos Truan, who also marched with Chávez and helped pass legislation designating March 31 as a state holiday honoring the labor leader, wiggled in close to the front of the procession alongside mostly political candidates and their supporters.

Participation was down from past years.

“People tell me they have other activities,” said Stephanie Guerrero Saenz, president of The Coastal Bend César E. Chávez Committee. “A lot of education still needs to take place for young people to realize the value of this.”

- ◆ Cesar Chavez's legacy has been under intense scrutiny in 2026 as allegations of rape and sexual assault have surfaced, with several victims young teenagers. United Farm Workers, the union Chavez founded, canceled their involvement with Cesar Chavez Day.

Ana Murguia remembers the day the man she had regarded as a hero called her house and summoned her to see him. She walked along a dirt trail, entered the rundown building, passed his secretary and stepped into his office.

He locked the door, as he always did when he called her, and told her how lonely he had been. He brought her onto the yoga mat that he often used in his office for meditation, kissed her and pulled her pants down. "Don't tell anyone," he told her afterward. "They'd get jealous."

The man, Cesar Chavez, one of the most revered figures in the Latino civil rights movement, was 45. She was 13. Ms. Murguia said she was summoned for sexual encounters with him dozens of times over the next four years.

Recently, more than 50 years later, Ms. Murguia learned that a street near her home in the Central California city of Bakersfield was in the process of being renamed. City officials want to name it in honor of her abuser.

Cesar Chavez Boulevard.

Ms. Murguia and another woman, Debra Rojas, say that Mr. Chavez sexually abused them for years when they were girls, from around 1972 to 1977. He was in his 40s and had become a powerful, charismatic figure who captured global attention as a champion of farmworker rights.

The two women have not shared their stories publicly before, and an investigation by The New York Times has uncovered extensive evidence to support their accusations and those raised by several other women against Mr. Chavez, the United Farm Workers co-founder who died in 1993 at the age of 66.

The questions raised by The Times about Mr. Chavez, one of the most consequential figures in Mexican American history, immediately prompted organizations with ties to him to try to distance themselves. The U.F.W. canceled its annual celebrations honoring Mr. Chavez, a response to what the union he once led called “profoundly shocking” accusations.

Marches to honor Mr. Chavez were called off in Austin, Texas; Tucson, Ariz.; and elsewhere. Officials in multiple states said they would consider renaming the scores of streets and schools named in his honor. “None of us knew,” Gov. Gavin Newsom of California said on Wednesday, noting that he planned to discuss with legislators whether to rename Cesar Chavez Day on March 31.

Ms. Murguia and Ms. Rojas, both of whom are now 66, were the daughters of longtime organizers who had marched in rallies alongside Mr. Chavez. He used the privacy of his California office to frequently molest Ms. Murguia, she said. He had known her since she was 8 years old. She became so traumatized that she attempted to end her life multiple times by the age of 15. “I wanted to die,” she said.

Ms. Rojas said she was 12 when Mr. Chavez first touched her inappropriately, groping her breasts in the same office where he’d meet with Ms. Murguia. When Ms. Rojas was 15, he arranged to have her stay at a motel during a weeklong march through California, she said, and had sexual intercourse with her — rape, under state law, because she was not old enough to consent. (Ms. Murguia said Mr. Chavez molested her but never had intercourse with her.)

The abuse allegations appear to be part of a larger pattern of sexual misconduct by Mr. Chavez, much of which has never been publicly revealed. The Times investigation found that Mr. Chavez also used many of the women who worked and volunteered in his movement for his own sexual gratification. His most prominent female ally in the movement, Dolores Huerta, said in an interview that he sexually assaulted her, a disclosure she has never before made publicly.

Many of the women stayed silent for decades, both out of shame and for fear of tarnishing the image of a man who has become the face of the Latino civil rights movement, his image on school murals and his birthday a state holiday in California.

The findings are based on interviews with more than 60 people, including his top aides at the time, his relatives and former members of the U.F.W., which he co-founded with Ms. Huerta and Gilbert Padilla. The Times reviewed hundreds of pages of union records, confidential emails and photographs, as well as hours of audio recordings from U.F.W. board meetings.

The accounts of abuse from Ms. Murguia and Ms. Rojas were independently verified through interviews with those they confided in decades ago and in more recent years. Elements of their stories were also corroborated in documents, emails, itineraries and other writings from union organizers, supporters of Mr. Chavez and historians.

The Times spoke at length with Ms. Huerta, the renowned Latina activist who helped run the farmworkers' union with Mr. Chavez and coined the social-justice rallying cry, "Sí, se puede," loosely translated as "Yes, we can."

She said she has held on to a dark secret for nearly 60 years.

One night during the winter of 1966 in Delano, Calif., she said, Mr. Chavez drove her out to a secluded grape field, parked and raped her inside the vehicle. Ms. Huerta, who was 36 at the time, said she chose not to report the assault to the police because of their hostility toward the movement, and she feared that no one within the union would believe her. She also described an earlier encounter in August 1960, when she said she felt pressured to have sex with him in a hotel room during a work trip in San Juan Capistrano in Southern California.

Ms. Huerta later began a long-term domestic partnership with Mr. Chavez's brother Richard, with whom she had four children. He died in 2011.

Ms. Huerta turns 96 on April 10. Her memories of the details of the assault that night in Delano are at times hazy. But she speaks of the attack in a startlingly matter-of-fact manner....

Chavez, the UFW and the “Wetback” Problem

Chavez and the UFW were so against “wetbacks” that they formed their own private Border Patrol.

Cesar Chavez was, in fact, deeply hostile toward “wetbacks,” as he (and many others of this time) called them. He was relentless in his efforts to halt immigration from Mexico and was active in pursuing the deportation of those already here. Chavez claimed that undocumented workers were driving down wages, and crucially, being used as strikebreakers. Both complaints had merit, of course. Mexican immigrants were routinely used to break strikes; their desperate situation often led them to take whatever work they could get, even if it meant clashing with the UFW’s goals. And certainly, all of these dynamics played a role in wage depression.

What is disturbing about Chavez and the union’s actions is how rigid and unwilling they were to consider that the issue was more complicated. Some Chicano@ organizations and leaders, among them Bert Corona, cautioned Chavez that alienating undocumented workers was a disastrous mistake. Others complained that Chavez was spending entirely too much of his (and the union's) efforts on the "Illegals Campaign." Others still worried that Chavez was making enemies of people who in fact were allies in this class and social struggle.

Did the "wetback" issue and the union's stance on undocumented immigrants cause its phenomenal downfall? Probably not. As Matt Garcia has argued in his controversial but much-needed study on the rise and fall of the UFW, Chavez and his union took numerous missteps and made a plethora of mistakes. Frank Bardacke and Miriam Pawel have made similar claims. But we should not be surprised to find that many undocumented immigrants today are unwilling to join a union that just a few decades ago vilified and blamed them for all of the union's problems...

Marcha Unida honors Chávez

Young, old share in contributions of labor pioneer

BY MIKE BAIRD
Caller-Times

Louie Garcia, 13, passed up his Boy Scout camporee Saturday to march in the 10th Marcha Unida honoring labor leader César E. Chávez.

"I wanted to march," said the Grant Middle School student. "(César Chávez) fought his way through racism, then gave up a chance for a high-paying job to help his fellow man."

Louie, who recently read a biography on Chávez, has never faced hardships that others faced, his mother said.

"He was amazed how migrant workers were treated," said Terry Garcia, 40, an elementary teacher. "It's scary times, and people are one paycheck from losing everything they've worked for. That makes it especially important to remember the struggles."

It has been more than 40 years since Chávez led migrant cotton pickers, boiler-makers, pipe fitters, welders and other laborers to march against the then-minimum wage of $1.25 per hour.

About 85 people Saturday chanted "Sí Se Puede," the United Farm Workers slogan, along five blocks of César Chávez Memorial Parkway en route to St. Joseph's Catholic Church for a blessing. Father Joe Lawless, 81, spoke about fighting evil. The World War II veteran marched with Chávez in 1967, he told the group.

Former Sen. Carlos Truan, who also marched with Chávez and helped pass legislation designating March 31 as a state holiday honoring the labor leader, wiggled in close to the front of the procession alongside mostly political candidates and their supporters.

Participation was down from past years.

"People tell me they have other activities," said Stephanie Guerrero Saenz, president of The Coastal Bend César E. Chávez Committee. "A lot of education still needs to take place for young people to realize the value of this."

The Coastal Bend Cesar Chavez Committee is a 501 (c)(3) non-profit organization.

Tax ID: 74-3022553

The Coastal Bend Cesar Chavez Committee with two of the 2014 keynote speakers, Christine Chavez and Cleo Rodriguez Jr

It is our mission is to educate and inspire generations of South Texans by promoting the legacy of Cesar Chavez.

Every year we host the Cesar Chavez State Holiday Celebration to honor Cesar Chavez. He was a Mexican American civil rights and labor activist who co-founded and led the United Farm Workers. He represented migrant farm workers, focusing on the terrible conditions they were forced to endure and eventually helping to change their circumstances.

Radical agenda to hurt industry and push green agenda. Saenz states she will “be an A+ student” for Texas Sierra Club’s legislative tracker while posting her Republican opponent’s 52% rating. Saenz implies she will get 100% but James Talarico himself only got 72%. Will Saenz drive oil prices higher with burdensome regulations pushed by Sierra Club? I've always educated myself on the candidates, and I've meet Bill White, Linda Chavez, Hector Uribe, and all the local candidates. They are all passionate about improving our community, and have the experience to make good ledgislation happen. Have you gotten to know any of the Republican or Tea Party candidates? Let us know if you do.

FYI: I am a HILARY supporter, but considering the mess the Repubs made of the economy, I'd give Obama more time to clean it up. He's not a Clinton, but HOPE can build momentum and FAITH can make CHANGE happen when we remember to PRAY and GIVE THANKS for all the many blessings we have received simply by being born in this GREAT country. To whom much is given much is expected. Have we met that expectation yet? Probably not; we're an arrogant and sometimes ignorant nation.

P.S. God Bless Us with more democrats, a rainbow of people who love their neighbors and environment as much as themselves, and who put the needs of others before that of their own personal wealth!

Ken Paxton has got to go! This guy will not be happy until we are all dead from COVID-19. As soon as we open up schools, we will see how bad this pandemic can get. AG Paxton Files Letter Brief in Support of Cypress-Fairbanks ISD
Conducting On-Campus Development for Teachers
AUSTIN – Attorney General Ken Paxton today filed a friend-of-the-court brief with the Supreme Court of Texas, urging the court to override a trial court order that unlawfully prevented the Cypress-Fairbanks Independent School District from resuming in-person, on-campus operations and teacher trainings just days before the start of the school year. On Friday, the trial court granted a request from a teachers' union to effectively shut down the on-campus operations of one of Texas's largest school districts. On Sunday night, the Supreme Court of Texas stayed the trial court's order.
"Friday was supposed to mark the return to campus for Cy-Fair teachers and staff who were preparing to start the new school year and welcome back kids, until a trial court unlawfully ordered the campus shut down at the request of a teachers' union. The trial court's order exceeds its jurisdiction and grants relief contrary to the laws of Texas," said Attorney General Paxton.

Mask Mandates in Texas School Districts

Facebook, 08/25/2021

Saenz supported mask mandates in schools even in the second half of 2021. Saenz reposted TASB’s response to Abbott’s executive order banning mask mandates for kids in public schools, which TASB called an unlawful overreach and an intrusion on ISD authority.

- ◆ In August 2025, Saenz posted this link with the “spiral eyes” emoji to the TASB response to Gov. Abbott’s executive order. The response is currently removed from TASB, which is why the generated thumbnail is blank. However, there is an archive page of the text of the response, also posted below.

Facebook 08/25/2021

On July 29, 2021, Texas Gov. Greg Abbott issued an executive order (GA-38) that specifically prohibited local authorities, including school districts, from imposing face covering requirements.

The order stated:

“No governmental entity, including a county, city, school district, and public health authority, and no governmental official may require any person to wear a face covering or to mandate that another person wear a face covering.”

The order also stated that the imposition of a face-covering requirement by a local governmental entity or official would constitute a “failure to comply with” the executive order subject to a fine up to $1,000.

Finally, the order directed that public schools operate in accordance with Texas Education Agency \(TEA\) public health guidance, which also indicates that mask wearing must be voluntary.

Of course, since the release of the governor’s executive order, some areas of Texas have experienced extremely high levels of community spread and resulting hospitalizations due to the COVID-19 delta variant.

In response to the rapidly evolving health situation here in Texas, TASB has developed the following short Q&A in support of its members. Naturally, we understand that Texas is a large state with significant variation in geography, demography, and community standards.

That’s precisely why on the issue of mask requirements in schools, TASB advocates for local control. It has been our longstanding tradition to support and advocate for the local authority of school boards to govern the schools in their community, and that tradition continues on this important issue.

Here are our responses to questions we’ve received related to executive order GA-38.

Does TASB consider GA-38 a lawful exercise of the governor’s authority?

No. TASB views the executive order as overreach and an intrusion on local independent school districts’ authority to govern and oversee the management of Texas’ public schools. As such, we support school districts who have taken steps to implement health and safety measures that respond to COVID-19 conditions in their communities.

To this end, TASB has written a letter to the Texas Supreme Court emphasizing the importance of local decision making on the issue of mask policies at the local level. Additionally, TASB's Legal Assistance Fund joined a "friend of the court" brief in which school districts effectively demonstrate that the executive order is not a valid exercise of executive authority under the Texas Disaster Act and the governor's authority to suspend procedural laws during a disaster does not include the power to undermine local school district governance.

These cases are pending around the state and will likely be decided by the Texas Supreme Court. Unfortunately, even if appeals are expedited, a final decision could take several weeks.

Here at TASB, we find it deeply disturbing that school districts are facing the dilemma of potentially violating an executive order to safeguard the health of students and staff. We ask that districts not currently facing this dilemma support the efforts of fellow Texas school districts to ensure that our state's longstanding tradition of local control is protected and upheld.

What does TASB advise regarding mask requirements?

We advise all districts to work closely with local health officials, staff, and parents to determine the best approach regarding the use of face coverings.

For districts that determine that mandatory mask wearing is necessary for the health and safety of their community, we advise working closely with your school attorneys. According to Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton, imposing a mask mandate violates GA-38 and could subject the district to legal consequences.

The attorney general has been contacting districts perceived to be in potential violation of the order, issuing stern warnings like the following:

My office will pursue further legal action, including any available injunctive relief, costs and attorney's fees, penalties, and sanctions—including contempt of court—available at law against any local jurisdiction and its employees that persist in enforcing local mask mandates in violation of GA-38 and any applicable court order.

Given the inherent legal risk in imposing mask requirements in schools, we strongly encourage districts to consult with your school community, health officials, and school attorney before implementing a mask requirement to fully understand potential implications.

What should we do if we get a warning letter from the attorney general?

Inform your school attorney and your insurance carrier or risk pool promptly.

Could a mask mandate be adopted as a “dress code” requirement rather than health rule?

While we consider the inclusion of face coverings in a dress code within a school district’s authority, the governor’s executive order appears to restrict this option with its broad prohibition on local mask requirements. The attorney general has sent a warning letter to all districts identified as having mask mandates, regardless of how the mandate was characterized.

Is there individual liability for school officials who adopt a mask mandate?

Generally speaking, we understand the adoption of a mask mandate to be a local governance decision made in good faith in the course of official duties. As such, the actions of individual decision makers should be covered by immunity under state law. While it is impossible to give a conclusive answer when the legal issues are in flux, individual liability for individual school officials is highly unlikely.

Anyone can send the Governor a letter using this link, and we can make phone calls as well. We (teachers and some students) go back to our classrooms on September 8th, but we want the reopen to go much slower than the reopening that happened with the state. Our COVID-19 numbers are so much higher in Nueces now than they were before we went through the reopening of the state. This could be really bad especially with flu season approaching.

We need time to put into practice our new routines.

How we enter the building,

Setting up our classrooms to manage students in person and virtually, Greeting students in person and virtually while maintaining distance, Helping students with all tasks while maintaining distance,

Giving lessons with either a mask, shield or both over our mouths, Staggered dismissals to promote social distancing in the halls, Disinfecting our classrooms in between classes,

Students eating lunch in the classroom,

Checking up on students who are working asynchronously,

I'm rethink my tutoring schedule,

There are many things on my mind concerning our return to school. However, the BIG thing that weighs heavy on my mind is that I do not want to see one child die from COVID-19 on my watch.

We have all had so much loss this year; I couldn't bear the loss of one of my students.

A free and equitable education is the right of every student from our richest to our poorest. Public dollars should be spent on PUBLIC schools not PRIVATE schools. Vouchers will rob a vast number of students of a free and equitable education. Most people I know have attended PUBLIC schools, and have benefitted from attaining a high school diploma. Not only that, our public school education binds us. We have learned to appreciate each others' differences, to celebrate our diversity and that we are all equal in this great country which is full of opportunity for those who work hard to attain an education. Like Dr. Garcia said, "Education is our freedom..." and we should not shirk our civil duty to defend it.

It's extremely important that we elect legislators that put public school funding first on there list of priorities. Teachers will continue to do their best, but the bottom line is that there are many classrooms that are simply too big to be able to reach every child. It really is the student that suffers when we put them in a sink or swim situation where they have to compete for the teachers time, share technology or worse, they have an uncertified individual filling in until the district can find a certified teacher to take the job.

I would really like to understand how the feds can overlook every other problem facing teachers and go straight to the conclusion that we all need to be fired? If they could see what I see, then the question would be, how do we as a nation motivate our youth?

Tenure Is Not the Problem

Teacher protections are not why poor schools are failing. Segregation is.

BY RICHARD D. KAHLENBERG

JUNE 13, 2014 • 10:59 AM

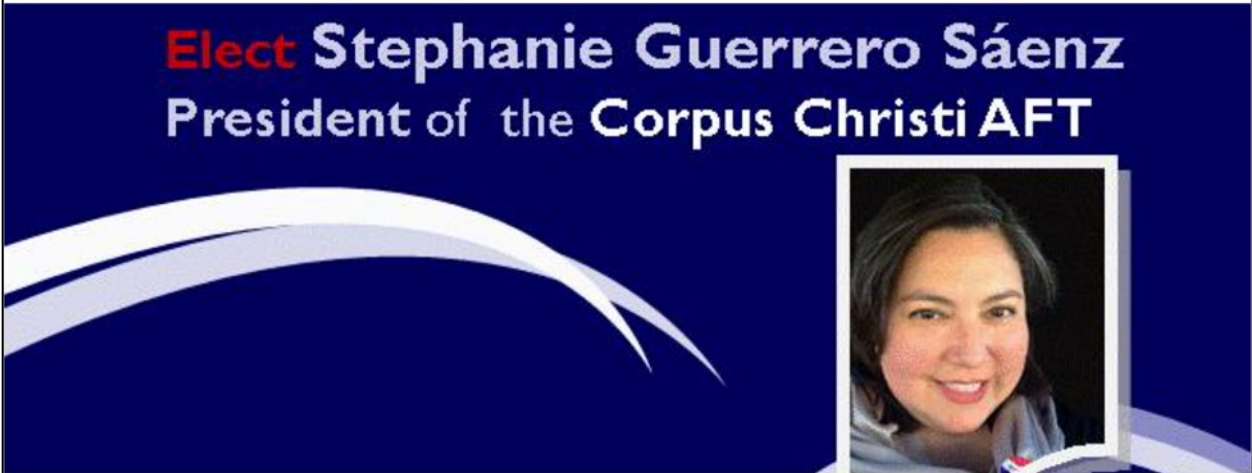

Reforming (or gutting) tenure laws might make it easier to weed out bad teachers, but it does nothing to address the underlying ability of segregated schools to attract and retain strong teachers. As a result, even if tenure reform is successful, there is little reason to think new teachers hired in high-poverty schools will be much better.

Efforts have been made to get around segregation by offering educators financial bribes to teach in high-poverty schools. But polling finds that teachers care more about working conditions than salary, which is why financial incentive programs fail with most teachers. A 2013 study of the federal Talent Transfer Initiative, which offered a $20,000 bonus to effective elementary school teachers who agreed to move to a low-achieving school within the same district, had few takers. Almost eight in 10 teachers didn't even fill out an application. As Dana Goldstein explained in her *Slate* piece, this is because money isn't the No. 1 priority to a teacher: a school's "working climate" is.

STEPHANIE GUERERRO SAENZ for CCAFT PRESIDENT

Stephanie will bring a true sense of SOLIDARITY to the CCAFT Union by communicating with CCAFT members in CCISD and the surrounding districts. She will uphold the CCAFT constitution and bylaws, and she will hold regularly scheduled membership meetings. Stephanie will bridge the gap between the CCAFT and district administration, and she will represent both teachers and auxiliary in negotiating for better pay, working conditions and health insurance benefits. The CCAFT Union of Professionals will be transparent with local, state and national resources, and all future budgets will be viewed and voted on by the membership at the start of each year. For these reasons, I endorse Stephanie Guerrero Sáenz for president of the CCAFT Union.

Instead of funding public school education we are still giving tax breaks to businesses in Texas. Public schools will have to be funded with only local dollars if they are to exist at all at the rate our legislature is going. Your state taxes may not be going up, but your local taxes will have to if we are going to fund education properly.

Wow, with 24 people it will take quite a while longer to work through proposals especially if they are coming to the meetings with an organizational agenda. I get that the ATPE and CCAUSE want more representation on the committee, but that can happen through the current election process. The current elected representatives have never gone in waving their AFT flag, but they (we) are one UNITED voice for employees. If the debate moves away from working conditions to each group fighting for their own political agendas, then consultation will have lost its purpose.

The second reading to move consultation from policy to regulation is happening today (very soon). If it passes, then changes can be made to the consultation process without board approval. ATPE and CCAUSE feel like this would be an opportunity for them to have equal representation on the CCISD consultation committee (power grab), and AFT sees this as an opportunity for the superintendent to do away with consultation, or destroy the process.

At the very least, all of the politics being played is distracting all of us from much more important issues such as the TASB recommendations, T-TESS, and the equitable access for technology proposal.

On July 20, 2017, Senators Lindsey Graham (R-SC), Dick Durbin (D-IL), Jeff Flake (R-AZ), and Chuck Schumer (D-NY) introduced the Dream Act of 2017.<sup>1</sup> It is a bipartisan bill that would provide a direct road to U.S. citizenship for people who are either undocumented, have DACA or temporary protected status (TPS), and who graduate from U.S. high schools and attend college, enter the workforce, or enlist in the military.

Through the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program, announced by President Barack Obama on June 15, 2012,<sup>2</sup> some of these young people received temporary permission to stay in the U.S., as well as employment authorization, for two-year periods, and they could apply to renew that permission and work authorization for additional two-year periods. However, DACA recipients are still without a road to lawful permanent resident (LPR) status or U.S. citizenship. Meanwhile, on September 5, 2017, the Trump administration announced that it is ending the program and that October 5, 2017, would be the last day that U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services would accept any applications for DACA. This has left people who either still have DACA or whose DACA has expired in limbo with respect to their future in the only country they've known as home since they were children.

sympathy towards “Dreamers”—we must continue to pressure lawmakers to support inclusive, non-enforcement-based legislation that will protect as many people as possible. Most importantly, we must increase the pressure on both Republicans and Democrats to pass the Dream Act before this year ends.

Overview: 2017 Dream Act

The Dream Act of 2017 would make the following changes to current law:

- Grant current DACA beneficiaries permanent resident status on a conditional basis, and allow TPS beneficiaries, people without lawful immigration status, and people with final orders of removal the opportunity to apply for this same immigration status.
- Permit conditional permanent residents to obtain lawful permanent resident (LPR) status (sometimes referred to as getting a “green card”) if they go to college, have worked for a certain amount of time, or served in the U.S. military. They also would have to meet other requirements.
- Provide a pathway to U.S. citizenship. The path would be as follows: Conditional permanent residence (CPR) status for 8 years, during which time the person must fulfill the requirements for eligibility to apply for LPR status (see pp. 3–4, below); applying for and receiving LPR status; spending a certain period of time (generally 5 years) in LPR status; then, finally, applying for and receiving U.S. citizenship.
- Stay (stop) the removal proceedings of anyone who meets the Dream Act requirements and young people over 5 years of age who are enrolled in elementary or secondary school.
- Improve college affordability for undocumented youth and other immigrants by changing rules that limit their access to in-state tuition and to student financial aid made available by states and institutions.

Join us for a vigil in solidarity with El Paso as they mourn the lives lost in this weekend's hate-fueled mass shooting.

We're gathering at La Retama Park, the site of the "Queen of the Sea" fountain commissioned by the Corpus Christi Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, to reclaim the space.

As communities of immigrants and refugees, our hearts beat with El Paso: A community that straddles borders and cultures, a symbol of safety and inclusion for people from around the world, citizens and non-citizens alike.

That is El Paso's strength. Nothing will change that. Today, we must reaffirm our commitment to that strength. And we must redouble our commitment to defeat the vile worldview of white supremacy. ♦♦ Today, it is a moral imperative that decent people, and all Latinos, speak out.

Vigils: This Wednesday, communities across the country plan to hold vigils to remember and celebrate the lives lost, and recommit to confronting the contemptible worldview behind the violence committed. Whether you work with an organization, church, business, or just want to express your individual support with family and neighbors, now is the time to speak out. Sign up to host or attend a vigil.

Attending the vigil will allow us to grieve and redouble our commitment to defeat the vile worldview of white supremacy.

#ElPasoFirme is anchored by Border Network for Human Rights (BNHR), RAICES, and the National Day Laborer Organizing Network (NDLON), Reform Immigration for Texas Alliance, Repairers of the Breach, Poor People's Campaign, and is endorsed by a broad array of faith, immigrant, civil rights, and grassroots organizations.

In Corpus Christi these organizations include the Corpus Christi chapter of the Democratic Socialists of America, the Corpus Christi Immigration Coalition & the South Texas Human Rights Center. See less

Saenz advocated for the teacher's union having more power in Corpus Christi ISD.

Body

The Corpus Christi ISD board voted to facilitate a transition to a new method of consulting with labor organizations and other groups about wages, benefits, and working conditions for the district's employees.

Superintendent Roland Hernandez proposed changes to the process at a July school board meeting. A second reading of the policy change proposal was presented to trustees Monday. District 3 trustee Tony Diaz made a motion to table the proposal, and District 2 trustee and assistant secretary Tony Elizondo seconded. The motion to table the proposal failed with a 3-4 vote. District 1 trustee John Longoria made the motion to approve the proposal and trustee Dwayne Hargis seconded. The motion passed with a 4-3 vote.

Hernandez argues proposed changes to the long-standing consultation process will be more inclusive of associations that are underrepresented.

“Consultation is not about any association as much as it is about representation from different positions across the district on personnel matters,” Hernandez said. “My hope is to create an advisory committee to be inclusive of all groups.”

As per board policy, a 12-member group of elected employee representatives meets monthly to help shape administrative decisions that affect employees. The board approved the proposal to move the language for the consultation process, as well as its guidelines, from local policy to regulations. That will allow for a more flexible model and the transition to a larger committee of representatives from relevant organizations and groups, Hernandez said. The organizations will get to elect their representation, as opposed to the district's biannual election for the 12 spots. At least two representatives from each labor organization, plus administrative representatives, auxiliary personnel representatives and independent teachers not associated with any organization, will be allowed to participate in the committee.

CCISD adopts changes in labor talks; Leaders say policy will have more flexibility

Hernandez said the transition will address an imbalance in the current consultation process for which 10 consultation committee members are members of the Corpus Christi American Federation of Teachers, and 2 are part of Corpus Christi Association of Texas Professional Educators.

Groups like the Corpus Christi Association of United School Employees and the Corpus Christi Principals and Supervisors Association are not represented in the committee.

About 20 people signed up for public comment on the matter.

Wearing "My Vote Matters" AFT buttons, CCAFT members spoke against the changes. CCISD is among three districts in the state that engage in the consultation process modeled by the federation, President Nancy Vera said.

Stephanie Guerrero Sáenz, a King High School Spanish teacher who sits on the consultation committee, spoke against making the consultation process expendable.

"While (Hernandez) has good intentions, those intentions may not be followed by future superintendents," she said to trustees. "So it puts us in a real scary position of possibly losing consultation. In the future someone can just say, 'we don't need that.'"

Of about 5,000 teachers and support staff employed by the district, C-CAUSE represents about 870 active members, said President Susie Luna-Saldaña. Roger Gutierrez, the Association of Texas Professional Educator's regional field representative, said his group has more than 900 active members in the district.

CCAFT has about 1,860 active members as of March, officials said.

Both Luna-Saldaña and Gutierrez are in favor of the changes.

Luna-Saldaña said the association's budget is overshadowed by CCAFT's and resources are spent on legal counsel and officers instead of campaigning for a spot in the committee.

"I want equal representation, but I'm not going to put up that kind of money for an election," she said.

Luna-Saldaña said she meets with Hernandez on an informal basis when members have issues with administrative decisions and, along with three minutes of public comment during board meetings, the efforts are the extent of the C-CAUSE's voice.

"The process has been controlled by one organization," said Luna-Saldaña. "Everyone should have an equal say ... If we could all speak in one voice, imagine the force of change we can bring about."

Gutierrez said although the association is represented in the committee, he'd prefer voicing concerns to the same capacity as CCAFT.

"The purpose is to have feedback and provide a channel for conversation that's not been very balanced," Hernandez said. "We have other organizations that have not been brought to the table. This is a way, in an advisory capacity, to have a more balanced approach."

CCISD to break ground on new Mary Carroll High School

The Corpus Christi Independent School District will hold a groundbreaking ceremony on Monday, September 1

Stephanie Guerrero Saenz

The Corpus Christi Independent School District will hold a groundbreaking ceremony on Monday, September 10, 2012. District officials, members of the CCISD Board of Trustees, and community members will participate in the ceremony for the new Mary Carroll High School. The groundbreaking ceremony will be held at 3750 Cimarron Blvd., the site of the new campus.

The base plan for the new high school, which is a replacement campus for the current Carroll High School, includes 380,000 square feet and consists of space for standard and specialized classrooms; athletic facilities; science and computer labs; fine arts area and library; and administration, cafeteria, and support areas. Two additional plans have been approved by the CCISD Board of Trustees to include an extra twelve, core classrooms and a 1,000 seat auditorium. Construction costs for the additional plans will be presented to the Board of Trustees for final approval.

The school design is by Gignac & Associates and the Construction Manager at Risk for the project is Fulton*Coastcon. Construction costs for the base plan of the campus are budgeted at $70 million. This project will pursue the certificate of LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) Certified from the U.S. Green Building Council. Through the achievement of LEED Certified, the project will promote healthful, durable, affordable, and environmentally sound practices in building design and construction.

Construction of the new Mary Carroll High School is one of several projects approved by voters during a bond election in 2010. The school is set to be complete for the 2014-2015 school year.

Del Mar College's Board of Regents will interview four candidates for the vacant District 3 seat Friday morning in a special called meeting.

In the Feb. 9 meeting, the board announced former regent Elva Estrada had resigned after being on the board for more than 14 years.

The four candidates include CCISD secondary teacher Stephanie Guerrero Saenz, attorney Deanne Pierce, attorney William J. "Bill" Kelly and former Nueces County commissioner Carolyn Vaughn.

Chairwoman at-large Carol Scott said the board intends to name the new regent member Friday.

Donna Adams
Office of Certified Personnel Director
Corpus Christi I.S.D.
801 Leopard St.
Corpus Christi, Texas 78401

Dear Donna Adams:

I have been a Spanish teacher for the last 21 years and during that time I started an AP program for Spanish in Mathis I.S.D.; I ran a successful Spanish AP language and literature program in Corpus Christi I.S.D. at Roy Miller High School; and I participated in a Faculty Fellow Program with professors from Texas A&M Kingsville.

I would love the opportunity as Specialist for Social Studies (K-5) and LOTE to work with both elementary and high school teachers, as well as being immersed in my two favorite subjects. I have been an advocate for well-rounded history books since 1997 when I attended my first Texas State Board of Education meeting in support of history books that reflected the diversity of our nation. I was also featured in the Caller Times for an article that highlighted teachers who went outside the main curriculum to incorporate books and resources that would add enrichment to the curriculum.

I have served as an instructional leader while working as a department chair in both Mathis and Miller High Schools. I started writing curriculum while working in Georgetown I.S.D in 1998, and I've written for Corpus Christi I.S.D. under the supervision of Janis Jordan, Janet Lumley, and Vatarie Buhidar. Curriculum writing has given me the opportunity to collaborate with teachers to develop curriculum, classroom activities and common assessments. And, it has given me the opportunity to support teacher learning as a teacher presenter. I like for the work that I do to be challenging, interesting and creative. For that reason, I would like to be considered for the position of Specialist for Social Studies (K-5) and LOTE.

Sincerely,

Our first Free Store Family Picnic is in 7 days! Join us March 8th from 10am-supplies run out! On the menu (penne pasta, marinara, meatballs, garden salad, garlic bread, dessert, water, Gatorade) Thank you Esperanza de Tejas, Inc. For taking the lead on sponsoring this picnic.

We will be at 417 S. Upper Broadway at the Corpus Christi Community Center.

I need volunteers March 7th (9am-12 @702 furman ave) March 8th (830am-12@ 417 upper broadway)

March 7th - we will be creating hygiene kits, sorting donations, loading items for the event, serving walk up shoppers. It will be primarily outside, great for community service hours.

March 8th- we will be unloading and staging the free store inside the community center. There are options for folks who need accommodations to participate. We will be serving food, handing out aid, and collaborating with other nonprofits. We are expecting 200+ to attend. The more hands, the more smoothly the experience is for everyone.

I am also looking for dessert donations! Consider purchasing/baking cookies, cakes, pies, or cupcakes for the event. We are anticipating 200 people.

VOTER GUIDE – LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Voter Guide

◀ Texas State Representative District 34

Stephanie Guerrero Saenz (Dem)

Biographical Information

CAMPAIGN EMAIL

http://stephanieguerrerosaenz@outlook.com

What motivated you to run for this office?

I want to be a servant leader to the constituents of House District 34. Too often we see the bad side of politics, but politics can produce good results with the right leadership. I have a desire to help people, and I want to take what I have learned while being involved with my community and apply it to legislation that can improve life for all of us.

Describe your strongest competency and life experience that qualify you to hold this office.

I have been involved with the Democratic Party since my 20's as a campaign volunteer, community activist, voter registrar, precinct chair, labor representative, and election judge. I currently serve on the State Democratic Executive Committee. I am a high school teacher of 29 years, and have lived in the district for almost my entire life. I am an ethical person who cares about people, and I have a desire to improve life for the people in my community and in the Great State of Texas.

During your campaign, what is the number one concern expressed to you by residents? What is your response to this concern?

The main concern for the residents of House District 34 is the cost of living. We need high-paying local jobs, affordable healthcare, and affordable housing to bring some relief to our residents.

Other than the issues previously addressed, what are your top three priorities, and, if elected, how would you address them?

Three additional priorities are education, protection of our natural resources, and infrastructure development. I will work with organizations and experts to either support or create good legislation that addresses our needs.
